Connecting People & Sharing Knowledge. Spring 2025.

Program Highlights—Speakers

Speaker—Terry Fortner

We're excited to have Terry Fortner, an expert in insurance claims processing, collision and mechanical parts, vehicle assessments and the collision repair market, speak at the ITPA's convention. He will cover the importance of accurately quoting insurance adjusters, why it is important to market and build a relationship with insurance carriers and the process of determining whether a truck should be repaired or salvaged.

The session will also address other key insurance topics, including policy details, coverage options, and best practices for handling claims, helping attendees navigate insurance challenges in the heavy-duty trucking industry. Terry has over 40 years within the industry; Nationwide Insurance (VP of Claims), LKQ Corporation (VP of Sales and Marketing North America) and as a leading consultant today. He often speaks at industry events. You will find him very open and transparent answering questions from the audience and during break out periods.

Speaker — David Papp

David is a computer engineer with extensive experience in IT strategy, infrastructure, and business technology optimization. As a fractional CTO for small businesses, he helps navigate their technology needs, ensuring their IT strategy aligns with business goals to drive growth, efficiency, and future-proofing. His expertise includes IT assessments, risk management, cybersecurity, infrastructure planning, and introducing emerging technologies that enhance operations.

With recent experience in mergers & acquisitions, due diligence, integration, and technical advisory, David provides strategic guidance to businesses looking to optimize their technology stack, improve resilience, and stay ahead in a rapidly evolving digital landscape. His approach is focused on making IT a business enabler rather than just an operational expense.
